

DON'T WHIP THE BOY

Edward W. Bok Advise Against Using the Rod.

TO BE USED AS A LAST RESORT

Investigations May Need It, But Firmness and Kindness Will Bring About Better Results.

I will not say that the punishment of children can be dispensed with in every instance, writes Edward W. Bok in "A Home with the Editor" in the July Ladies' Home Journal. No possible rule can apply to all cases, since every instance must be a law unto itself. At the same time striking a child should be employed only as the very last resort, whereas now it is used in all too many cases as a first. Kindness and firmness, when brought together, form the best basis for a child's education. Mothers should here be called into play. Fathers must allow room to have fuller play. The process may seem a little more tedious, but the result when reached, will be worth it all. Instantaneous correction may seem to be achieved, but was recently found amidst the ruins of Pompeii. The box was marble or alabaster, about two inches square and closely sealed. When opened it was found to be full of a mixture of gypsum, hard but very fragrant. The smell resembled somewhat that of roses, but was much more fragrant. What the perfume was made of cannot be conjectured now, as it is difficult that men in the nineteenth century should be able to regulate their noses with perfume prepared in the first.

To Ward Off Consumption.

A celebrated specialist in lung diseases recommends to a very delicate patient recovering from an incipient cough and general debility this startling remedy: Sixteen eggs a day for six months. The poor little woman has brought herself up by painful degrees to sixteen. Then she refuses to go any further.

Silent for the Housewives.

A solution of oxalic acid has been found for removing ink from cotton, linen or the lingerie, but it is attended with the danger of injuring the textiles and the skin. A much safer and better treatment of ink and rust stains consists in the application of two parts of powdered cream tartar and one part of finely powdered oxalic acid. Shake up the ingredients well together and apply the powder with a dry rag to the dampened stain. When the spot has disappeared, wash the garment again with water and then iron. The result is much more complete than from any other method.

In Chicago, he says, among the unrivaled virtues that one meets in the streets at least one in the lists an unmerciful scouring of dogs on upper lip.

An American medical man states that in Philadelphia fully three per cent of the adult fair sex are severely ascended, and probably the proportion would be still larger, but that many women take the trouble to遮掩 the unbecome growth by the application of depilatory preparations.

In this increase in the number of women with hair on their faces he regarded as a sign that the human race is improving. Yet, he says, in all events, we must endeavor to consider that a monstrous adds to the charms of the opposite sex.

From our extreme our clean shaven fathers plunged into the other, and the fashion spread rapidly because the fashion of late years has again been modified. Beards are in vogue, but the practice is cultivated in England as widely as in the Continent.

But why should the fair sex be visited with this infliction? Some writers on ethnology hold that the higher races of mankind are always the hairier, and Mr. Moot thinks that in a few centuries men and women will all be clothed with hair. —New York Recorder.

Chickens, ducks, turkeys, geese and pigeons should have the heads taken off close to the bodies. The skin of the necks should be left long enough to turn down upon the backs for an inch or two. When the bird is trussed its pinions will keep the skin secure, or it may be fastened by needle and thread.

Pour diluted carbolic acid at once upon every part of a poisonous wound; afterward give internal stimulants.

A little paraffine rubbed on screws will make them enter wood more easily. Roasted beef fat makes an excellent pie-crust, used with butter.

Battered Women.

In the sweet time coming, by and by, when men are bald-headed and toothless, and all the monkeys have learned how to talk Germanian, perhaps battered women will be as common as they are now rare.

At any rate that's what a perfectly horrid German professor says. He as-

A blotter can be made that will remove ink spots from paper. Take a thick blotting paper and steep it several times in a solution of oxalic acid. While the ink is moist apply the blotter and the ink will be entirely removed.

To revive and brighten leather wash it with a little warm water and a very soft cloth, and afterward brush it over with the whites of eggs whipped into a light froth. American leather, which is dull and stained, can often be restored by a mixture of oil and vinegar, well mixed. A very small quantity should be applied with a soft cloth, lightly, and the leather must afterwards be well rubbed with an old silk handkerchief.
